

November Oddball Holidays

November 3rd—National Sandwich Day recognizes one of America's favorite lunch items. The sandwich is believed to be the namesake of John Montagu, 4th Earl of Sandwich, following the claim that he was the inventor of the sandwich.

November 10th—National Forget-Me-Not Day reminds Americans of the sacrifices returning soldiers have made of body, blood and limb. Created in 1921 to remind Americans of the National Forget-Me-Not Day originally raised funds for services for returning injured soldiers.

November 20th—Peanut butter lovers and fudge lovers come together on November 20th to celebrate National Peanut Butter Fudge Day.

November 29th—Electronic Greetings Day encourages us to send an electronic greeting. At the same time, the day reminds us of how much things have changed.

The convenience and speed of sending an electronic greeting allow more people than ever to participate in this thoughtful process. We all enjoy it when someone remembers our birthdays, anniversaries, and other important life events. While greeting cards continue to be used, electronic greetings are far more cost-effective and mean equally as much.
